SencorpWhite to Demonstrate Latest Development in RFID Technology at ASHP Midyear Exhibition

Hyannis, MA, USA, December 5, 2011 – SencorpWhite, the leader in distributed inventory systems for managing high-value medical supplies, will be demonstrating its advanced Auto-ID technology at its channel partner, Grifols USA, booth during the ASHP Midyear Clinical Meeting and Exhibition. A fully-operational MicroVert™ set up in the booth (#2238) will demonstrate the capability of SencorpWhite's inventory management software and latest development in Auto-ID technology that enables full, accurate, and verified control of high-value pharmaceutical inventory.

SencorpWhite's MicroVert is a compact storage system integrated with Auto Identification technology (Auto-ID) – an RFID-based technology – for high-value supply and real-time pharmaceutical inventory management in pharmacies. Increased dispensing accuracy and efficiency save pharmacy staff time and secure medicines directly at the point-of-use.

SencorpWhite's medical-focused distributed inventory systems feature advanced software, enabling comprehensive inventory tracking, real-time reporting, and virtual management of distributed inventory that is compatible with many enterprise resource planning (ERP) systems as well as other commercially-available healthcare management software programs.

“In conjunction with our channel partner Grifols, will be demonstrating our latest advancement in remote RFID technology, enabling automated and accurate inventory control in numerous pharmacy applications,” stated Maurizio Turri, Executive Account Manager for Auto-ID integration for SencorpWhite. “Our systems enable healthcare organizations to securely store and accurately track high-value pharmaceuticals and other supplies while saving on employee time and energy.”
